Gregory J. Gordon holds dual roles for Elsevier; Managing Director of SSRN and Knowledge Lifecycle Management. SSRN is a leading Open Access multi-disciplinary online repository focused on providing Tomorrow's Research Today for early-stage scholarly research. In May 2016 SSRN joined Elsevier and has grown to 70 discipline-based research networks with close to 1,000,000 papers from more than 500,000 authors and users have downloaded over 150,000,000 papers to date. The Knowledge Lifecycle role looks at how content should flow between different product silos and bridge the gap between Elsevier and other organizations.
Prior to helping Michael C. Jensen found SSRN in 1994, Gregg started his career at KPMG and worked at or founded entrepreneurial companies in technology and health care. Gregg regularly speaks around the world and writes about scholarly research and the changes needed to create innovative research faster. He co-authored Standards and Infrastructure for Innovation Data Exchange, Science, and The Question of Data Integrity in Article-Level Metrics, PLOS Biology, and gave a TEDx talk, Trust to the Power of One, in May 2019.
